

Juan Carlos Hurtado Parra serves as Executive Vice President of Hydrocarbons as of 16 November 2025. Previously, he held the position of Vice President of Exploration, Development and Production, a role he assumed on 3 February 2025.

He is an electrical engineer, specialist in Project Evaluation and Development, and holds MBA in international Oil & Gas Business Administration. He has 27 years of experience in the sector, including a broad trajectory within Ecopetrol and executive positions at Transportadora de Gas Internacional (TGI).

He has held roles focused on the management and coordination of resources; the implementation of project processes and methodologies; the development and operation of hydrocarbon production fields; and the administration of operation and maintenance processes for gas transportation systems.